PLOT TO KILL HOOPER BARED BY WITNESSES

TRIGGER MAN TELLS OF COLD BLOODED CONSPIRACY

BY CHARLES MARENTETTE

Battle Creek, Mich., July 19 (AP)—The story of how Sam Fleisher, and Sam Abramowitz rode to Albion twice in futile attempts to kill a man whose "name was Hooper" was told in detail Thursday by Abramowitz, a key witness against four men charged with conspiracy to murder Senator Warren G. Hooper of Albion.

Told calmly, the cold-blooded details given by Abramowitz, the intended "trigger man," shared the spotlight on the fourth day of testimony with the surprise appearance on the witness stand of Mrs. Callenetta Hooper, widow of the slain senator. Mrs. Hooper identified pictures of the Hooper home and office in Albion, which were presented by Special Prosecutor Kim Sigler as state exhibits. She went to the stand from the seat among the spectators from which she had heard the trial.

Victim Watched

Abramowitz testified that three of the four defendants, Harry Fleisher, Sam Fleisher and Mike Selik, told him "there was a time limit on it (the killing)." It was Thursday. It had to be done then or he (Hooper) would appear before the grand jury and then it would be too late."

The witness said that Sam Fleisher twice drove him to Albion to commit the murder, once about Dec. 28 or 29 and once about Jan. 2.

The first trip, Abramowitz said, failed because they saw no sign of Hooper. On the second trip, he testified, that "after we drove to the (Hooper) office at least ten times I saw him from the top of the shoulders up, leaning back as though his head was resting against the window and he was pretty bald."

The witness asserted that they left Albion without doing anything because a woman and some kids were in Hooper's office.

Peninsula Boosters To Discuss Need Of Small Boat Harbors

Lansing, July 19 (AP)—Representatives of Upper Peninsula areas will consider the army engineer's program for the construction of 15 additional small boat harbors on the Great Lakes at meetings tomorrow in Detroit and July 28 at Houghton, State Planning Commission Director Don C. Weeks announced today.

He said that he and Grover C. Dillman, president of Michigan College of Mining and Technology and chairman of the Upper Peninsula advisory committee of the commission, would discuss the need for further recreational ports with a committee of Detroit yachtsmen tonight. A group of 30 Upper Michigan civic leaders will meet with district engineers July 28 at Houghton.

Weeks said that the engineer's plan calling for 15 more harbors would provide ports of refuge for the small craft every 30 miles along the shores of Lakes Michigan, Huron and Superior. A state or local contribution of more than $1,000,000 to match federal funds for the project is required by the war department.

At a meeting of the forest products research committee of the commission in Detroit tomorrow a staff of experts will present materials compiled during the last six months on a study of ways to increase employment in forest areas.

ARMIES COOPERATE

Manila, July 15 (Delayed) (AP)—Adm. Lord Louis Mountbatten, Allied East Asia commander, and his staff returned to India by air today after a three-day conference with Gen. Douglas MacArthur which was officially announced as intended "to arrange complete coordination between their respective commands."

NEW QUEEN OF SKYWAYS—The first picture of the hull of a new queen of the skies, expected to be completed in January, is shown above. She is the Hughes Hercules, an all-wood cargo seaplane which, builders say, will carry 750 fully-equipped soldiers non-stop from Honolulu to Tokyo. Essential facts: hull 220 feet long, 30 feet

Lone U.S. Submarine Mixes With Jap Navy

BY REMBERT JAMES

Siapan, Marianas Islands, July 2, 1944 (Delayed in Censorship) (AP)—Roving the far western Pacific, an American submarine ran into one of the strangest naval adventures of the war when she encountered the major part of the Japanese Imperial fleet and torpedoed a large enemy carrier.

Most of the enemy ships passed over her one night as she lay in the black depths and counted the whirring of their screws.

Before the adventure ended, enemy destroyers jarred her with depth charges, but the sub's lead hull was unharmed.

The story of the 48-hour experience of the submarine was told here today by the sub's young skipper, Lieut. Commander Herman J. Kossler, 32, of Los Angeles.

Twice the submarine had a bead on a big Japanese carrier, but the first time she withheld her torpedoes because she wanted to keep her presence a secret from the enemy, and relay information about the Japanese fleet to fleet headquarters.

"She looked as big as the Empire State building, and we had a perfect setup on that carrier," said Kossler.

"I feel sure we could have hit her. But I hadn't heard of that Jap force being around, so I thought our primary task was to get back the word about it—to report rather than to attack. It was a tough decision to make."

WORLD MONEY PLAN ADOPTED

Senate Approves Setup To Stabilize Postwar Currencies

Washington, July 19 (AP)—The Senate today voted its approval of the Bretton Woods plan to stabilize the postwar monies of the world and help finance reconversion.

The vote, 61 to 16, returned the measure to the House. Expected agreement there on minor technical amendments will give final congressional approval to the administration-backed program intended to steady the economy of a world recovering from war.

The plan puts the United States down for a $2,750,000,000 share of a proposed $8,000,000,000 fund to stabilize world currencies and a $3,175,000,000 capital subscription to a $9,100,000,000 bank to make loans for reconstruction and development.

With administration forces in easy control of the final day's debate, the Senate rejected any attempt to alter the plan. It apparently took its cue from Majority Leader Barkley (D-Ky.) who argued an amendment to the agreement would kill the entire proposal and force the world into another monetary conference such as last year's Bretton Woods meeting of 44 nations which produced the international bank and fund proposal.

DeValera Defends Hitler Condolences

Dublin, July 19 (AP)—Prime Minister Eamon De Valera told the Dail today that his visit last spring to the German minister to Eire to express condolences on the reported death of Adolf Hitler was an "act of courtesy."

DeValera declared that his visit was in accordance "with the procedure and practice that has been established here and which is almost universal." He said it did not involve any question of approval or disapproval of the policy of the German people or the Reich.

ROYAL FAMILY FLIES

London, July 19 (AP)—King George and Queen Elizabeth flew back to London tonight from a trip to northern Ireland, the first time in English history that the king and queen have ever flown to and from a visit. They were accompanied by Princess Elizabeth.

FREE ELECTIONS ASSURED POLES

United States To Keep Close Watch On Situation

Washington, July 19. (AP)—The state department promised today to seek full publicity for the situation in Poland and reiterated that it stands for self-determination for the Polish people.

Acting Secretary Joseph C. Grew stated the department's position in response to a letter from Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.) who said that to him and to millions of other people, the Polish settlement seemed "inadequate and unconvinced."

"There still seems to be no clear assurance," Vandenberg wrote, "that the Polish people will themselves have the final opportunity of untrammeled self-determination under this new provisional government which is imposed upon them by Britain, Russia and the United States, within the Polish boundaries similarly dictated by these external powers."

Grew replied that the new Polish government was set up by the Poles themselves, but indicated the United States would seek to keep close watch to see that actually free elections carry out the rest of the Yalta agreement on Poland.

Later he subsurfaced and found no sign of the carrier. The navy put it down as a probable, but Kossler is convinced he sank it.

"Then we heard loud water noises in the direction we had made our attack—four loud explosions. 'There goes the carrier—sinking,' I said."

TRUMAN HOST AT BIG THREE STATE DINNER

QUICK VICTORY IN PACIFIC SOUGHT BY PRESIDENT

BY DANIEL DELUCE

Potsdam, July 19, (AP)—President Truman entertained Premier Stalin and Prime Minister Churchill tonight at a state dinner, the first such function of the big three conference now proceeding on a workmanlike time-table.

The dinner at the "Little White House" climaxed a day in which the three leaders presumably met formally for a third time.

Under conference procedure, the foreign secretaries pass problems on to the big three for final decision as soon as they reach some general agreement.

Secretaries Carry Burden

There was speculation that the president was stressing the necessity of a quick victory in the Pacific, arguing that the sooner Japan falls the sooner the United States can aid in the stabilization of European economy and the reconstruction of shattered industries.

It was officially announced that the three leaders are meeting regularly with their agenda prepared each morning at 11 o'clock by the foreign secretaries. Thus the burden of the preliminary work falls upon Secretary of State James E. Byrnes, Foreign Commissar Vyacheslav Molotov, and Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden.

These three held their first session Monday, with Byrnes presiding under a system of daily rotation of the chairmanship.

The top-ranking diplomats of the three nations turned out for tonight's state dinner, but Eden did not attend. An official announcement said he was indisposed.

High Hats Out

The American delegation was headed by Byrnes, the Russian by Molotov. The president wore a new brown suit.

The genial Truman bowed to the dictates of international diplomacy in allowing the affair to be called a state dinner. He never has been one for "high hat" affairs.

COUNCIL HAS A BUSY SESSION

New Airport Site May Be Considered; Zone Hearing Date Set

COUNCIL — tv-cwb

At a busy session of the city council last night, the possibility of a new airport location was considered. Mayor Sam Wickman was appointed to select a committee, of which he will be a member, to investigate jointly with a committee from Gladstone, the area west of U. S. Highway 2, between the Soo Line tracks and the Danforth road. This state-owned section of land would provide a sand-filled area which would accommodate runways of more than a mile in length. It is possible that the cost of such a project would be no greater than the cost of improving the present airport site, and would provide a joint airport for the two cities.

Other business on the council program included a request by Mrs. Mary Dury Mitchell to purchase the building and transfer the liquor license of George C. Williams, owner of the Metropolitan Hotel, located at 1123 First Avenue north. The council will act on this at the next meeting.

Funeral Home Moves

Granted permission to enclose a porch with glass at the Moreau residence in the 1100 block of North Eighteenth street.

Approved the transfer of the Degnan funeral home, 106 North Fifteenth street, to the Murphy residence located at 302 South Thirteenth street, after hearing a petition presented by Patrick Degnan, which was signed by the residents of that block.

Postponed action on a request by Chester Rice to construct a three-car garage on his property at First avenue south and Twenty-Fourth street.

Heard requests from residents of Danforth to improve the Danforth road between Twenty-Third street and the city limits. Such action has already been approved by the council, but has been difficult to carry out because of the labor shortage.

Passed a resolution to make assessments for a sanitary sewer on Fifth avenue south; there were no objections at the hearing which was scheduled for last night.

Requested that a petition be submitted by the Delta Hardware company, who wish to change the sidewalk on the east side of their building.

Tabled the bids submitted for the sale of four city lots back of the brewery building.

Postponed action on the question of providing remuneration to Fred Sensiba, airport attendant, for mercy flights.

Approved the repair of the roof of the city-owned building occupied by the Venus Foundation Garment company.

Approved a resolution for a bond for Justice H. E. Rangue.

Postponed action on a resolution requested by the Delta County Tavern association.

Considered a request by the Delta Transit company to stop their buses at every other block on the south side of Ludington street between Fifteenth street and Sixth street, and to erect Bus Stop signs; the present system of stopping at each corner interferes with pedestrian traffic lanes.

Passed a resolution to amend the city zoning ordinance, and clearly define the commercial district at Twenty-Third street at Ludington, and to eliminate the local business district at Twelfth avenue north at Twenty-Third street, which would go back into a Class A residence zone. The first hearing is scheduled for the council meeting on Aug. 16.

Authorized the city to purchase a boiler feed pump for the city steam plant; authorized the hiring of auditors for the 1944-45 audit; and heard the first reading of the ordinance in regard to closing the alley in back of the Delta Hardware building; passed a resolution after hearing a petition presented by Jules DeGrand for the installation of sewer and water at Fifth avenue north and U. S. 2. A hearing is scheduled for the next council meeting on Aug. 2.

Huge Yank Thrust In China Won't Be Needed Says Chiang

Chungking, July 19. (P)—In the first interview he ever granted an American soldier, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek told Sgt. Walter E. Peters of Yank magazine that he believed a huge American land offensive in China would not be necessary to defeat Japan.

"Given proper equipment and supplies, the Chinese army — together with a strong American air force — can defeat the Japanese on the continent," Peters quoted the generalissimo as saying.

Nazi Propaganda Lies Still Swaying Germans

By CURT REISS

Berlin—Defeat has not uprooted the propaganda so firmly implanted in German minds through years of Goebbels and isolation from the rest of the world.

This I learned in a painstaking canvass of opinion in Berlin and its suburbs. To assure impartiality, I employed German civilians to assist me in taking a popular poll. We interviewed a cross-section of people (over 200) in all walks of life. Here are some of the startling beliefs held by many Berliners after over three months of Allied occupation:

1. That President Truman and Prime Minister Churchill are not on speaking terms, and are busily preparing for war against each other.

2. That stories about the Big Three conference are "typical propaganda" (about 20 per cent, in fact, did not even know such a conference was under way in Berlin.)

3. That the Russians have taken many British and American soldiers as prisoners, and are holding them in a Berlin suburb under heavy guard.

4. That a war between Russia and the United States is inevitable and will take place on German soil.

No Interest In "History"

Berliners seem strangely unaware of the historic significance of the Big Three parley. They don't appear to realize that the treatment to be accorded Germany is one of the major issues to be discussed. They are unconcerned about the fact that discussions taking place in the German capital will affect the future of the world.

The Germans are no longer interested in "history." They are interested only in what the next few days will bring to them. Their chief concerns are food, employment, and reconstruction.

The people who didn't believe the Big Three would meet in Berlin had no explanation for their doubts. They simply didn't think it was true. Even when they were convinced such a meeting would be held, they showed no spark of interest.

About 10 per cent of those interviewed, all of whom I suspect to be Nazis, openly declared that they believed the Big Three conference to be propaganda devised to impress the Germans with Allied unity. These are the people who believe Truman and Churchill were actually battling each other.

The wide-spread rumor that the Russians had jailed American and British soldiers evidently originated in Potsdam. Its basis is the fact that the Russians have placed a heavy guard around the enclosed area where the Big Three meetings are in progress.

About 10 per cent of those who were interviewed were obviously frightened. Spontaneously, each exclaimed: "I hope that nothing will happen to any of the Big Three." They feared that if any of the Big Three leaders suffered injury, Berlin would be made a second Lidice. This attitude is symptomatic of their belief that the Nazi underground is very powerful and that the Allies were unable to protect their leaders against the Nazis.

Only about 25 per cent, mainly middle-aged business men, working women, and elderly people, hoped that unity will be achieved during the conference. These people feel that any difference between the Allies would result in additional difficulties for Germany.

Want Security

About 15 per cent, mainly workers, have specific wishes. Almost all want a certain measure of security. They believe: The value of German money should be internationally regulated. Taxes not yet paid should be cancelled, since those who owe them aren't making any money. People who had been forced into the party without playing a role there should be forgiven and not be treated as Nazis. Some kind of central German authority should be created so that some general law basis will exist. Measures should be taken to better the food situation. The question of German war prisoners should be cleared.

Relatively few among this group hoped that the conference would arrange for German elections. Many, however, hoped that the activities of German Communists would be somewhat curbed. When asked what specific activity they meant, no answers were given.

NIPPON KEPT GUESSING BY U. S. WARSHIPS

29s started conflagrations in bombings early today of four Japanese industrial centers and the Nippon oil refinery at a fifth, Amagasaki.

Returning crewmen reported seeing large fires raging as they left Fukui, Hitachi, Chosi and Okazaki, and that the Nippon refinery storage tanks were hard hit.

All bombings were by instrument, except at Fukui, where clear weather permitted a visual strike.

One B-29 was reported missing and another ditched, but five of the latter's crew members were rescued.

Pilots reported "good to excellent results" at all targets.

Smoke plumes rose 17,000 feet into the night skies from fires started at Fukui. Lt. Everett L. Miller, Philadelphia, a navigator said it appeared that the "target was completely destroyed."

There was little antiaircraft or fighter opposition at any target but Japanese searchlights tried vigorously to pick up the B-29 armada.

A thin overcast gave Superforts protection at Amagasaki.

Fire at Okazaki were well spaced at regular intervals.

A big explosion lit up the sky as bombs found the Nippon oil refinery.

Blaze Dies Down In Great Halifax Arms Depot Blast

Halifax, N. S., July 19. (P)—Thousands of evacuees streamed back to their homes tonight as fire-fighting units gained control of the great blaze that touched off four terrific explosions and a series of lesser blasts at the Royal Canadian navy's armament depot near here last night and early today.

Such a program was established by the conservation department in 1937-38 but was inactive in the intervening years until it was set up again this year. The last legislature provided a $25,000 appropriation for the work.

Industrial Alcohol Production Eased For Distilleries

Washington, July 19. (P)—The alcohol beverage industry soon may be released from mandatory production of industrial alcohol, the War Production Board disclosed today. Registered distillers have been asked to contract voluntarily with the Defense Supplies Corporation to deliver industrial alcohol during the last three months of the year.

The blasts started at 5:35 p. m. EWT last night as flames of a jet fire reached the munitions depot. Explosions felt 125 miles away continued after daylight today, when the flames started to die down.

Home Town Cheers WAC Survivor Of Shangri La Crash

Oneida, N. Y., July 19. (P)—Blue-eyed WAC Cpl. Margaret Hastings came home today to the arms of her father and the cheers of her townfolk, completing an 18,000-mile trip from "Shangri-La," New Guinea valley from which she was rescued.

As music sounded and 1,500 eager friends called greetings, the 30-year-old corporal paused on the train platform as if bewildered.

"Every girl dreams of having a band play when she comes home," she said, "but I never thought I would have that thrill."

She and Lt. John S. McCollom, 26, Trenton, Mo., and Sgt. Kenneth Decker, 34, Kelso, Wash., were the only survivors of an army transport plane crash May 13 that killed 21 others aboard.

Barrage Balloons Offered For Sale

Washington, July 19. (P)—Need any barrage balloons? The Reconstruction Finance Corporation has 250 for sale.

The RFC acknowledges that the surplus gas bags may not have much further use in the air but suggests them for anything from raincoats and waterproof sheeting to bus roofing.

Made of two-ply lightweight fabric coated with neoprene, the balloons, which used to float over factories and defense installations come in two sizes, one of 781 square yards and the other of 260 square yards. The price is a dollar a yard and the sale unit is one whole balloon.

Combat Casualties Reach 1,053,101

Washington, July 19. (P)—Combat casualties reported by the armed forces since Pearl Harbor reached 1,053,101 today, divided as follows:

Killed—244,810
Wounded—639,048
Missing—47,734
Prisoners—121,509

Compared with the past week, the increase in the total was 3,997.

The rise was one of the smallest in weeks. The Army reported losses of 917,442, an increase of 1,724, and the Navy listed casualties of 135,659, a gain of 2,273.

Fighters Of 44th Arrive Home Today

New York, July 19. (P)—The 44th infantry division is due home tomorrow (1 p. m., EWT) on the superliner Queen Elizabeth.

They are the men who, in 203 days of combat after landing at Cherbourg, France, last September, took more than 44,000 prisoners in their drive from the Parrot river, near Luneville, to Inst, Austria.

TO AID FARMERS KILL PREDATORS

Three Conservation Men Instructor Trappers For Peninsula

Three Michigan conservation officers with experience in trapping predators have been named as trapper instructors in the Upper Peninsula, it was announced yesterday by John Anguil, district supervisor for the conservation department.

Purpose of the program is to provide assistance to farmers and others who have trouble with wolves, coyotes, fox or other predatory animals. Application for the assistance of the trapper instructors is made by the farmer through the office of his county agricultural agent.

The instructor trappers and the counties which they will serve are as follows:

Herbert Lennon, Rapid River, for Delta, Menominee, Marquette, Dickinson and Alger counties.

Paul Houlmont, Alpha, for Gogebic, Ontonagon, Houghton, Baraga and Iron counties.

Ray Walker of St. Ignace, for Schoolcraft, Luce, Mackinac and Chippewa counties.

When complaints of damage by predators are received by the county agents, the agent will notify the trapper instructor, who will go to the complainant and assist him trapping the animals.

Such a program was established by the conservation department in 1937-38 but was inactive in the intervening years until it was set up again this year. The last legislature provided a $25,000 appropriation for the work.

Battleship Communications

New battleships of the Iowa type have a ship's communication system that includes eight transmitting stations, 294 loudspeakers, and 31,000 feet of cable, making immediate communication from one part of the ship to another possible at all times.

If this arrangement proves feasible, WPB said, it is hoped there will be no further need for Order M-69 which converted the beverage industry to industrial alcohol production in October, 1942.

The agency estimated that beginning in October not more than 50 per cent of the capacity of the registered distillers would be required for industrial alcohol production.

The blasts started at 5:35 p. m. EWT last night as flames of a jet fire reached the munitions depot. Explosions felt 125 miles away continued after daylight today, when the flames started to die down.

No Neutrality for Russia

ASIDE from the audacious and repeated naval shelling of the Japanese home islands, perhaps the most significant development that portrays the Allies' progress of the war against Japan is the blatant announcement that the Postdam conference of the Big Three, now in progress, includes in its agenda a discussion of ways and means of crushing Japan.

The significance of this cannot be lost to the Japs, inasmuch as Soviet Russia, represented at the conference by its dictator, Joseph Stalin, is presumably a neutral in the Pacific war.

There is no effort to hide the fact, as there was in previous Big Three conferences, that Russia's position in the war against Japan is being carefully explored by the Allied leaders. The status of Russia, in fact, is now far and beyond the speculative stage and it is becoming increasingly apparent that the Red army will turn itself against Japan, an old and bitter foe.

In the past, the Allied policy was to avoid public speculation of the possibility of Russia joining the war against Japan, because of fear that the Nipponese would attack first, at a time when the Soviet armies were locked in a death struggle with Germany.

The German threat has been licked. The Russian war machine is now free to turn on Japan. The deteriorating position of the Japanese war power virtually precludes any chance for a successful attack on Russian forces based in Siberia. If the Japanese should attack there, they would be playing directly into the Allies' hands and their action undoubtedly would serve only to shorten the war.

Russia's stake in the Far East is important to the Soviet Republic. Stalin is a realist and he knows that he cannot hope to gain a bargaining position on Far Eastern postwar affairs by sitting back now and letting the United States, Britain and China crush Japan without Russian assistance. The American naval shelling of the Japanese islands must certainly prove to Stalin that the time is now ripe for Russia to join the battle for the final and decisive action to knock Japan out of the war.

Timber Is The Thing

ANNOUNCEMENT has been made that another industry is seeking a location in Manistique—a woodworking company that is anxious to move northward from Lower Michigan so that it can be closer to the source of timber supply.

It is getting to be a familiar story. No matter what certain interests may say about it, there is no denying the fact that some areas of America are unfortunately losing their forests after years of lumbering, coupled with destructive fires. As a result, forest products industries are on the move, and the areas that are still able to assure an adequate timber supply for a few decades or more are being favored.

Just recently, a representative of a New England concern made a tour of the Upper Peninsula to acquire birch and maple timber for the manufacture of bobbins used in the textile industry. If given the assurance of an adequate timber supply, the company planned to establish a wood working industry, employing about 200 persons.

Whether the eastern firm's representative found what he wanted in the Upper Peninsula was not made known, but the incident illustrates how important our forests will be in the post war economy of this region.

We can get the industries if we have the timber. But whether these industries stay depends how we conserve and develop our forests. Trees planted by CCC enrollees during the depression thirties are now attaining quite impressive heights, and will serve the needs of future generations. We could stand to have more tree planting in the future, however, and it is to be hoped that if a new conservation corps is created after the war the Upper Peninsula will be favored with an extensive work program.

Swimming Pool Boom

MORE than 10,000 swimming pools will be built in the United States during the five-year period immediately after the war, it is indicated in a report of a nationwide survey made by Beach and Pool, trade publication. Of this number, it is estimated about 200 will be constructed in Michigan.

Many pools will be built as a part of the "living memorials" program, which has been gaining popular acceptance in this country. If American communities are to spend public money to provide jobs for returning veterans and other unemployed, it is good idea to use these funds to provide facilities that will enhance the physical and mental well-being of the people. Healthful recreation, for instance, can be a very important factor in promoting good citizenship.

Escanaba and other cities in northern climates would find indoor swimming pools to be ideal postwar construction projects. The experience of this summer is as good an argument that can be offered in favor of it. Normally, swimming weather is afforded only about two months out of 12, but it is probable that the season will be shorter this year.

Communities with indoor pools are able to offer this healthful form of recreation the year round. It is to be hoped that the postwar period will bring such facilities to Escanaba.

Benefits U. P. Farmers

Gasoline rationing probably will cut down attendance at the annual farmers roundout at the U. P. Experiment Station in Chatham on Aug. 3, but those who can manage to go there will be amply rewarded for the time spent.

Farmers will be given an opportunity to see the results of many years of experimental work to improve agricultural conditions in this region. One of the featured exhibits, for instance, will be the Early Chatham tomato, which was developed at the farm and has won the favor of Victory Gardeners and full-time farmers.

The Chatham farm is the Upper Peninsula's own agricultural research laboratory. It is situated so that its soil and climatic conditions are fairly representative of the region it serves. Upper Peninsula farmers should derive much satisfaction from the knowledge that at Chatham there is an institution which day in and day out is working for their interests.

AIR MAIL FOR MORE CITIES

(Pontiac Press)

Extension of air mail and aerial express service to thousands of American communities now denied this boon has become assured.

Recent Washington tests have demonstrated the practicability of a newly developed method of parachuting mail bags and parcels to earth from low flying planes.

The mail bags and parcels are fitted with parachutes which lower them gently to the ground at any desired location without reduction of the planes' speed of more than a hundred miles an hour.

The bags and parcels are ejected from a rear door of the aircraft by a specially designed conveyor. Static lines fastened to both planes and parcels pull the chutes' shroud lines free, the parachutes open and the static lines automatically cut loose from the parcels, permitting them to reach the ground undamaged.

The idea offers great promise.

Its scope seems unlimited.

At present only 373 American communities enjoy direct air mail service and 375 have aerial express service. Lack of airports large enough for transport plane landings, or any airports at all, has doomed countless cities and towns over which existing commercial air lines operate to get along without these adjuncts of modern American life.

The adoption of the parachute delivery system would end their isolation, and if it could be developed into a pickup system as well, would give them every advantage now enjoyed by cities having large capacity airports.

KELLY RETIRES

(Detroit Free Press)

As Jack Garner remarked, "Politics is funny."

The accepted picture of the Michigan political scene has been that Gov. Kelly was planning to run for the United States Senate, with Lt. Gov. Vernon Brown as his successor.

Kelly's retirement as Governor was sound logic politically, as only two other men in the history of the State have ever been given three terms. It was contended by observers that Arthur H. Vandenberg had lost his following by being a "middle-of-the-roader" on vital issues because of his ambition to be President. Kelly, it was agreed, could "take" him.

Then something happened. Dropping all ambitions for the Presidency, Mr. Vandenberg spoke out of his heart and mind in a historic address to the Senate, advocating the World Charter. Overnight he became a world figure and at San Francisco added greatly to his stature.

It is now felt that he is unbeatable for Senate seat in 1946. With that realization, it would seem, Kelly announces his retirement from politics. Brown announces his candidacy for Governor.

As Governors have come and gone in this state, Kelly has not been a bad executive. In most instances he has been excellent. And now that he, too, has abjured ambitions as did Vandenberg, perhaps without the need of playing politics Kelly will rise to his true height and give the people of Michigan a complete new setup in that Liquor Control Commission.

To pick big and capable men for such a task instead of political hacks would make the name of Kelly long remembered among our Governors.

Think of the War Bonds you could buy with the money you wish you had saved for the out-of-town vacation you can't take.

An elevator in a building in a Missouri city dropped three stories and the operator was fired. He fell down on the job.

World Events Analyzed

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

From France come disturbing reports of the turmoil that is so close to the surface in that troubled and tragic country. Among the hundreds of thousands of returned war prisoners and slave laborers are carriers of Nazism. Either they were pro-Nazi before they left France or they have been infected by intensive German propaganda during their long exile.

Still another possibility is not discounted by those who have studied recent confidential reports out of France. The Nazi underground may have planted agents among these returning Frenchmen to work toward the end of Nazifying all Europe.

Strongly organized propaganda against the United States is believed to stem from certain of the returnees. In the unhappiness of the French people, who were led to expect so much more help from us than they have received, this anti-American propaganda finds all too ready acceptance.

GITS ARE DISSATISFIED

Complicating the situation are several million G.I.'s. They are passing through France on their way to the States. They are in Paris on leave. With the war in Europe ended, they see little reason why they should have to stay there, and they make their discontent fairly vocal.

Here are the elements of an explosion. Even if it does not come, except in minor blow-offs such as have been reported from time to time, the situation will generate frustration and ill feeling that years of good will cannot erase.

We, on our part, have contributed little to understanding between the two republics. Too often we have been hypercritical and suspicious.

Recently, three members of Congress returned from an investigation of European food shortages. They reported that the people of France "were sitting around doing nothing and waiting for us to feed them," that is a childish oversimplification which can only cause more ill will.

Unfortunately, it reflects an attitude becoming more current among officials here. The tendency is to look skeptically on European food shortages, to say that the Europeans are not doing enough to help themselves.

COAL SHORTAGE IN FRANCE

The French have quite another story to tell. They point to coal shipments so small that French industry could not get going even if other supplies were available. The British were about to cut off the 175,000 tons they have been sending across the channel and only the sharpest protests prevented this from happening. The French say that 40 per cent of the coal they are getting goes to transport U. S. soldiers and U. S. supplies and, while this may be a generous estimate, the proportion is undoubtedly large.

The French peasant, having learned through centuries of upheaval to be a squirrel, is hording his produce rather than taking it to town to sell for inflated francs. The inflation is serious and the de Gaulle government seems to be able to do very little about it. De Gaulle himself, at his best when he was defending the honor of France against the world, has failed to attack the immediate problems that confront his country. Perhaps the fault is not his; perhaps the root causes are beyond his control.

In any event, these are the realities today. The malady goes deep, but the surface symptoms are not hard to find. In recent weeks, there have been anti-Semitic demonstrations in France.

You don't have to be a very expert prophet to see which way all this is leading. With cold houses and empty cupboards in the fall and winter, there will be rioting or worse. American soldiers may get hurt. They may be killed.

No great powers of imagination are required to foresee the reaction over here. Our isolationists today are keeping quiet. They are giving perfunctory approval to the San Francisco charter. But how they would welcome an upheaval in Europe! It would give them the chance they are waiting for to say "I told you so," to say that international cooperation is impossible.

It would be welcome, too, by those elements in Europe, both on the left and right, who want to discredit American democracy. The Fascists would exploit that kind of trouble to the utmost.

Let's get De Gaulle over here. Why the recent coyness when he said he wanted to come? A little more understanding and a little less recrimination may prevent a major tragedy next winter.

pronounced like "George's." It begins and ends with the sound of "zh." The "sault" of such names as Bidault and Renault does not rhyme with "fault." It should rhyme with "doo, hoo." Say: zhawrz bee-DOE.

From A. de B. comes a letter, written in faultless French. He implores me to make one more attempt to teach Americans that the celebrated name ("le nom celebre") de Gaulle is not pronounced, "dee GAUL."

First of all, let me emphasize that the French preposition "de," meaning "from; of the family or tribe of," is never pronounced "fee" or "day." Its approximate sound is "dub," similar to the word "dub" without the "b." The final "s" of Charles is silent, and the "a" is flat as in "carrot." Gaulle rhymes with "dole, hole."

Nothing about the name Charles de Gaulle is difficult. And surely it is a name of sufficient importance to justify an accurate pronunciation. But we Americans are a funny race—even yet, many of us haven't learned how to pronounce Roosevelt correctly, and what we do to foreign place-names in the news is almost beyond belief.

So, I suppose, expecting the correct pronunciation of Charles de Gaulle is being rather starry-eyed. But at least it's worth one more try.

Correct pronunciation: shar duh GOLE

STATION STRUGGLE

During a short visit at a northern California resort Herbert Hoover, Republican leader, has been visited by many prominent Republican leaders and it is thought that some new development in the platform of the Republican party will take place soon.

Miss Bernice Good of Harrisburg, bride-elect, was the guest of honor at a shower held Friday night at her home for ninety guests. Miss Good, whose marriage to Clarence Sundquist of Pine Ridge will take place July 23, was presented with many lovely gifts.

Mr. Walter Carlson and son, who have been visiting with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Bennett, Hremenville, returned to Escanaba Saturday and were accompanied by Mr. Carlson and Mrs. Kenneth Gunderson and children, who motored there to meet them.

On Saturday morning the station struggle was particularly strenuous, an aide reports. In fact the civilians swarmed toward and aboard the southbound train with such enthusiasm that a serviceman in uniform was pushed aside and was the last to enter the train. Perhaps he was used to the stations where they have special gates for men and women in uniform, and where those gates are opened first. Civilians are the last to enter the coaches.

Incidentally, the yellow safety line along the platform is practically ignored the last few weeks in the pushing and shoving period before the train arrives. One push at the wrong time and some would-be passenger will be the topic of conversation—but he won't be around to hear how it happened.

APRON - WISE GARDENER

There is one Escanaba lady gardener who knows how to use her apron to the best advantage. One of the Bugler's informants reports that she saw the lady walk out to her garden the other day wearing a large apron.

Looking first at the weeds in her garden, then at the street, she slid the apron around from front to rear and calmly stooped over to pull weeds, probably feeling as protected as the owner of a new insurance policy.

FISH STATISTICS — John Angulin, district supervisor for the conservation department at Escanaba headquarters office, presented informative talks recently to the Escanaba Kiwanis and Rotary clubs. At the Rotary meeting he made one statement that might result in controversy.

John offered the statistical dope sheet on your chances of catching a fish, and said that the department finds you should take 1.16 fish per fishing hour in Michigan.

Local fishermen who have spent the day wetting their lines and received only a nibble for their patience will have to be convinced that, statistically speaking, they are entitled (again statistically) to 1.16 fish per fishing hour, some body owes them quite a few fish.

SAYS VETERANS SEEK TRAINING

Dr. McClusky Delivers
Fine Address At Institute

More than 100 high school and college administrators, teachers, and members of Parent-Teacher associations on Wednesday morning heard Dr. Howard Y. McClusky, school of education, University of Michigan, speak on the topic, "How Far Can and Should the School Go in Education," at the opening session of the adult education institute conducted at the Northern Michigan College of Education in Marquette.

Stressing the "great need for adult education," Dr. McClusky cited the following viewpoints:

"Veterans returning now and after the war have listed education as the third of their basic needs. Education comes only after a job and the establishment of a home. Much of the education they want is adult education, on a part-time basis, so they can work and go to school evenings."

Few Have College Education

"Statistics show that in the average community in the United States there are nearly twice as many people who have had less than five years of school as have had college education. Other statistics show that in the typical community only eight and one-half years of school, and most of that 25 years ago."

In an age of such rapid change as this, Dr. McClusky continued, much of what people know vocally and civically is outmoded. Most of their knowledge is far behind the times, and must be brought up to date. Adult education for returning veterans and civilians, he said, is socially imperative if we are to go ahead.

"The school is only one of the many adult education agencies, but it is more strategically placed to stress, promote and foster adult education than other agencies," he continued.

Demand is that school people be "strategists in community relations," and a fuller view is needed of community resources. Schools must help the community to understand itself and make conditions for better life personally and civically.

Attending the Marquette meeting from Escanaba were John A. Lemmer and Charles L. Follo.

Mr. Follo gave a review of last year's adult education program in Escanaba.

U. P. Polio Records Studied By Doctors

Records of many of the infantile paralysis cases of the 1940 epidemic were studied by Dr. Gordon C. Brown and Dr. Lawrence Penner of the University of Michigan public health school while on tour of the Upper Peninsula this week. The two doctors left Escanaba yesterday to continue their survey in the eastern part of the peninsula and then will return to Ann Arbor.

A total of 373 polio cases were reported in the Upper Peninsula in 1940, Dr. Brown stated. Records on these cases were scanned by the two doctors on visits to the various county health department offices.

Dr. Brown said that the number of infantile paralysis cases all over the United States was "considerably higher" during the first six months of this year than during the corresponding period in 1944. Michigan has had only a few cases this year, however.

NORWAY PASTOR LEAVES

Norway—The Rev. Alfred N. Larson, who came here June 1, 1940, to succeed the Rev. John Larson as pastor of First Baptist, told his congregation that Sunday he had resigned and would leave August 15 to take over the Lake Elizabeth church near Atwater, Minn.

The Rev. Mr. Larson, whose home town is Wheaton, Minn., came here from Grand Marais, Minn. He also formerly served in Alberta, Can., going there from Grand Marais. He later returned to the church at Grand Marais.

Elfridge Newhouse Given Bronze Star

Sgt. Elfridge J. Newhouse of Escanaba has been awarded a Bronze Star for heroic service in connection with military operations in France, Belgium, Luxembourg and Germany during the period of July 27, 1944, to May 8, 1945.

According to the citation, he constantly demonstrated courage and aggressiveness under heavy enemy fire. His alertness resulted in the observation and disservice of much camouflaged enemy equipment. He entered the service from Escanaba on March 17, 1942. He is now stationed in Frankfurt, Germany. He has amassed a total of 83 points and plans to return home next fall.

Sgt. Donald Guindon Receives Citation

S/Sgt. Donald J. Guindon, son of Mrs. Peter Guindon, 1212 Seventh avenue south, has been awarded a certificate of merit for service in connection with military operations against an armed enemy. His citation reads: "Sergeant Guindon has been in charge of the service records of the entire regiment from 11 Dec. 1944 to 30 April 1945. During this period there has been a large turnover of personnel within the regiment, making the job of keeping service records exceedingly difficult. Sgt. Guindon has maintained a high standard of correctness by his expert knowledge and hard work, and has kept records which are so vital for the status of every enlisted man in this organization in a superior manner."

Sgt. Guindon has been attached to the personnel of the 87th Division, and has seen service in

YOU CAN'T EAT MEDALS

To the Editor, Daily Press:
After reading the article in the paper of the 17th, I say "hats off to Sgt. Johnson and thousands of American boys of the war." I would like to see the United States put Sgt. Johnson on a farm of his own. He says he likes to farm. Stock him up with everything that he needs. There have been several million dollars spent foolish in undertakings that were not needed that would set up a lot of young men on farms. Those medals are all right but you cannot eat them, or sell them to any advantage. If we ever get another depression, what good will the medals be?

There are thousands of young men scouring the country looking for work. Now if the ex-soldiers had a farm to go back on they would be satisfied. I do not say that every boy would do so but the majority would. What do you think?

Fighting In Luzon Was Bloody, Says Rock Man

"Luzon smelled like blood," said Pvt. Alph Norden of Rock, now a patient at Kennedy General Hospital, Memphis, Tenn., "and that's just what it was." Private Norden fought and was wounded at Luzon. "During one of our beach landings, we noticed a huge water buffalo lying on the beach, apparently dead from the terrific shelling we had given the island before our landing. One of the men got up close to the buffalo to get a good look, and the animal jumped up and started pawing the ground, snorting, and attacked the soldier. We opened up on the buffalo and killed him, but he did a lot of damage before we got him."

Private Norden tells many fascinating experiences, but one outstanding one is the time he and his two buddies surrounded a Jap sniper who was holding down a good position in the doorway of an abandoned apartment house in Manila. "We surrounded him, and told him to start talking," Norden said. "He just looked at us a few minutes; then, with a wild gleam in his eye, yelled 'Banzai' and leaped at my buddy's throat. A bullet stopped him."

Are Dirty Fighters
"The Japs used all forms of dirty fighting they could think of," continued Norden. "They had a sniper sitting in a church steeple. We had orders not to fire on a church, but when this particular sniper got my two buddies and me pinned down, it was him or us. We laid there, waiting to determine his exact position. During our wait, we could hear a crowd of natives slowly making their way up the street. They were loaded down with personal belongings from their homes. In the group, crawling on her hands and knees, was a young woman. Both of her feet were gone, and were still dripping blood. As she crawled past us, she begged one of us to carry her. We knew if we ever stood up, in sight of the Jap sniper in the church, it would be the last time. All we could do was swallow our tears and motion to the girl to move on. A short time later, we got the sniper."

Private Norden was wounded April 20 while on guard duty. Just as he was going to wake his comrade who was to relieve him, he spotted a group of Nips coming down the hill toward them. Not wanting to take his eyes off the spot where the Japs were, he awakened his buddy by tapping him on the head with his foot. "About that time I felt a stinging sensation in my leg," said Norden, "but we were all too busy to mind anything except my gun. In a few minutes I felt my boot getting soggy, and I realized I must be bleeding pretty badly. I crawled back about 10 feet from the lines, tore my pant leg and made a tourniquet for my leg. Then I took my wound tablets and laid down. That was about 5:00 in the morning, and it was about 8:00 o'clock before the medics could get to me because of the ensuing battle. I was given a hypodermic and told to wait until some Filipino litter-bearers came."

Will Be Coming Home

"They arrived about 10:00 o'clock; put me on a litter and started over the rocky terrain to the aid station. It was a tedious journey. Every time a shell exploded, they would have to drop me and hit the ground. After what seemed like hours of this being carried and dropped routine, we got to the aid station. From then on it was all right." Norden got back in the states May 8 after serving overseas 15 months with the 37th Infantry Division. He expects to go home on convalescent furlough soon.

Besides the Purple Heart ribbon with one oak leaf cluster, Norden wears the Combat Infantryman Badge, Asiatic-Pacific Theater of

Airplane Locates Invisible Targets

Burbank, Calif.—Targets for formations of conventional bombers were pin-pointed through fog, darkness and bad weather during past months by a new Lockheed P-38 Lightning Pathfinder with special equipment, it is now revealed. The exact equipment carried by this modified Lockheed fighter is still not releasable, but its effectiveness in locating invisible enemy targets is no longer a secret.

The Lightning Pathfinder has an elongated metal and plastic pilot's nacelle that is cylindrical and blunt. Its instruments are advanced over those of the "droop-snoot" Lightning which contained all the standard bombing and navigational equipment of a heavy bomber. Like its predecessor, the Pathfinder is a two-man plane, a pilot and a bombing operator carried in its specially-constructed nose.

REAPPRAISAL TO BE BEGUN SOON

Clemishaw Company To Set Up Office In City Hall

Reappraisal of property within the City of Gladstone is expected to start in the near future, it was learned yesterday from City Manager H. J. Henrikson.

The work is to be done by the Clemishaw company of Cleveland which has already carried out a reappraisal of Escanaba properties.

The remainder of the county or the townships are also scheduled to be reappraised but before entering into a contract with the Clemishaw company, Ole Thorsen of Wells, chairman of the county board of supervisors, has asked the attorney general's office to rule on the validity of such a contract. The board at their June meeting had authorized the work.

The Gladstone city commission approved the reappraisal and the contract submitted by the Clemishaw company has been gone over by City Attorney G. W. Jackson, although as yet it has not been signed.

The Clemishaw company will have its headquarters in the Gladstone city hall when it makes the reappraisal here and in the townships.

SIEBERT GETS HOLE-IN-ONE

Sinks Tee Shot On No. 4
On Gladstone Golf Course

Fred Siebert got a hole-in-one, the dream of every golfer, while playing in a Men's Twilight league match Wednesday afternoon on the Gladstone Day's River course.

It came on No. 4, a 110-yard pitch from the tee high on one river bank to the green set in a clump of trees down below. Using a 7 iron Siebert lofted the ball and as it arched downward it headed straight for the cup. There was a sound of ball on metal and the ball disappeared into the cup. It was found firmly wedged between the pin and the side of the cup when the group of golfers reached the green.

Playing with Siebert were G. E. Dehlin, James Cannon, and Torval Kallerson of Gladstone, and Connie Johnson of Rapid River.

NEW TRACTOR—Gladstone recently acquired a new piece of equipment, a 3-ton International tractor which will be put to many uses, according to City Manager H. J. Henrikson. Operated by Chet Lynch it is pictured cleaning the beach of grass and brush. The cutting attachment has a 7 foot blade. The machine has power takeoffs front and rear and a loading device and bulldozer will also be used on it.

Miss Van Straten Weds Chris Staat

At a wedding which took place in Milwaukee recently, Miss Alvina Van Straten, daughter of Mrs. Frederick Desotell of Gladstone became the bride of Pfc. Chris J. Staat, son of Nicholas Staat of Milwaukee. The marriage took place at the St. Joseph church, with Fr. Grasser performing the ceremony.

The bride wore a floor length gown of white lace, with which she wore a pearl necklace and matching ear rings, gift of the bridegroom. She carried a bouquet of white roses. Her attendants, Miss Genevieve Chouinard and Miss Mary Jane Chouinard, wore floor length gowns of yellow and blue, and carried mixed bouquets. The bridegroom was attended by A. S. Norman Sents and T. S. Vincent Reis. Mrs. Desotell, mother of the bride, wore a blue print dress with white accessories.

The Pacific Reporter

By Associated Press

Peleliu, Palau Islands (P)—The "only American Press Club west of Tokyo" carries on a thriving business on this sunbaked Pacific atoll, cooled by the thick masonry of a former Japanese administration building.

Sgt. Bill Nelson of Montclair, N. J., a marine combat correspondent, is in charge. Assistant by Marine Cpl. Charles (Red) Belisle who sports a nifty set of handlebar moustaches despite obvious youth. Belisle, while not exactly a newspaperman, claims some familiarity with the business since his dad, J. Alfred Belisle of Worcester, Mass., is the Worcester Sports Writer for the Boston Herald.

The "West of Tokyo Press Club" actually had its beginning on D-Day when marines set up a post in a foxhole. After the Japanese were blasted out of the big grey building, the marines moved in and it has been a busy enterprise ever since.

"Of course we don't have much to do nowadays," Nelson, a former San Francisco Chronicle reporter says. "It's mostly 'Joe Blow' stuff about what the guys do on the island. But it was a hot spot once."

"Say," Belisle interposed, "you might say I'm a naturalized Texan because I married one." (It is now duly recorded Red is a "naturalized" Texan.)

A tall, blonde Marine lieutenant spoke up during a "bull" session:

"In areas where they exercised a mandate following the last war the Japs have left an indelible stain," he said. "I'll show you one example." The officer raised his voice:

"Oh baseball, come here a minute!"

A dark skinned youth of 22 stepped timidly into the tent. He wore an old baseball cap, a shirt and shorts.

"This is baseball," the lieutenant said. "His real name is Gadade, but we named him Baseball because he's crazy about the game. We got him from Angaur where the Japs had him working in a phosphate plant." "Baseball" stood quietly and you could almost feel his timidity.

"Show him your back, Baseball," the lieutenant said. The little man took off his "Skivvy" shirt. He turned his back to the light and across there was a skein of scars. They were shipmarks left by Japanese overlords. An officer arose to inspect him more closely and Baseball ducked to one side. Then he grinned.

"He still does that," the officer explained. "He remembers that the Japs slugged him frequently and without reason. It sometimes was enough that he happened to be in the way of a Jap who was in bad temper."

"Baseball" was 15 years old when the Japanese came to the Ile of Yap, about 500 miles north of this coral atoll and seized him and other young men as virtual slave laborers.

AG. ENGINEER HERE TUESDAY

To Help Farmers Solve Their Technical Problems

A. J. Bell, extension agricultural engineer from Michigan State college, will be in Schoolcraft county on Tuesday, July 24. Mr. Bell is coming into the county at the request of the county agricultural agent to help farmers with different problems such as irrigation of small fruits, construction of farm buildings, milk cooling tanks, water systems, septic tanks, etc.

"This is baseball," the lieutenant said. "His real name is Gadade, but we named him Baseball because he's crazy about the game. We got him from Angaur where the Japs had him working in a phosphate plant." "Baseball" stood quietly and you could almost feel his timidity.

Schoolcraft county farmers who have just put hay in barn mows are urged to be on the alert to detect fire caused by the spontaneous combustion of relatively wet portions of the hay. Because of frequent rains it has been difficult for farmers to judge the degree of curing and there has been a tendency to put hay into the barn before it is sufficiently dry.

Hay should be checked for heating at least two or three weeks after haying operations have been completed.

A simple device to check temperatures in a hay mow can be made from a one-half inch pipe. Taper one end or insert a pointed plug. This will enable you to drive the pipe into the hay mow. The pipe should be about eight feet long so that hay temperature can be checked inside the mow where the most heat is generated. After inserting the pipe into the hay, a dairy-type thermometer is lowered into the pipe at the end of a string. Twenty to thirty minutes should be allowed before the thermometer is removed for a reading.

If the reading is 180 degrees F. or more better call the fire department before moving any of the hay. Any oxygen (air) coming in contact with hay with temperatures over 180 degrees F. may burst into flame. If this happens it is nice to have the fire department handy rather than to have to call them after a fire starts.

Stone Quarry Pit Is Declared Ideal Place For Swimming Pool

A tract of city owned property that has long been regarded as something of a problem, has suddenly loomed brightly in Manistique's hopes for better things to come.

The stone quarry pit, in the center of property facing Maple street, has been adjudged by O. L. Gregg, extension specialist from Lansing, to be ideal for swimming pool purposes and the land surrounding it "made to order" for adaptation as a playground.

Mr. Gregg, whose specialty is landscape gardening and utilization of land for which it is best suited, was enthusiastic over what could be made of this property. The clear water of the pool, the gradual slope of the bottom, nearness of the pool to the center of population and the surrounding land make it a prize bit of property that many a city would be proud and happy to own, said Mr. Gregg. "Why, you even have a good start for a bathhouse," he said, noting the concrete floor of what had once been the quarrying company's barn.

The floor is in excellent shape and concrete wall which divides the floor space in two, is just right for the partition.

Plenty Of Water

After viewing the site, Mr. Gregg conferred with representatives of various civic groups and members of the council at the city hall. He asked concerning the water supply in the pool and was told by Charles D. Manson, city manager, that the water had been tested by a state chemist and was found to be practically perfect for city water purposes and that the only reason why it was not considered favorably as a source of the city water supply was that there was not enough of it. The flow of water, Mr. Manson said, was constant and that when the water was drained to a certain level in the pool drained itself.

Good Park Prospects

Mr. Gregg noted that there was ample room for tennis, softball and horseshoe courts and was particularly impressed with the possibility of using the sand dunes in the background for a toboggan and coasting slide.

Mr. Gregg's enthusiasm was contagious. People who have long felt the need for swimming pool facilities for the community, are considering action that will make the project a reality, and it is considered as certain that the proposed recreation committee, whose creation at the next meeting of the city council is regarded as a certainty, will take up and press the proposition in its first order of business.

Mr. Gregg was also shown a plot of ground that had formerly been the bed of the Indian River and asked whether this could be transformed satisfactorily into a swimming pool. He was emphatic in his rejection. He said that while the small stream flowing through the spot would provide an adequate supply of fresh water, the bed of the pool would constantly fill up with silt and therefore be unsuitable for bathing purposes.

World Series Assured For 1945; Navy Men Want To See Champs

PLAYERS WILL TOUR PACIFIC

Chandler Sure Plans For Baseball Classic Can Be Worked Out

BY BUS HAM

Washington, July 19 (P)—The 1945 World Series was virtually assured today as the result of a request by Secretary of Navy Forrestal and Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, commander-in-chief of the Pacific Fleet.

They asked Commissioner A. B. "Happy" Chandler to make arrangements to send the World Series winner "on a tour (90 days) of the Pacific ocean to play Army and Navy teams at advance bases."

Forrestal is so enthusiastic about the possibilities of such a tour that he commented in a letter to Chandler: "It may persuade more Japs to surrender because the one thing they all want to know is: 'Who's leading the leagues?'"

"This shows how eager the boys in service are for the World Series to be played," Chandler said, "and there no longer appears to be any valid reason for not playing the annual final championships."

The playing of this year's series had been in doubt due to transportation difficulties, but Chandler said he felt sure "that the problem can be worked out satisfactorily."

OK, SAYS MACK

Philadelphia, July 19 (P)—Connie Mack, manager of the Philadelphia Athletics, voiced his approval tonight of the "command" performance of the 1945 World Series' winner touring Pacific bases.

"I think the idea is very OK," he said. "I am quite sure that the championship team would be more than pleased to make the trip and that all baseball would support the idea wholeheartedly."

"It will do the boys in the service a world of good to see the 1945 World Champions in person on diamond."

Chances Wasted; Red Sox Bow To Chicago, 5 to 3

Boston, July 19 (P)—Refusing to take advantage of Thorne Lee's generosity, the Boston Red Sox today wasted many scoring opportunities while taking a 5-3 setback from the Chicago White Sox.

The Chisox collected nine of their 12 hits and all but one of their tallies off starter Emmett O'Neill during the first seven innings. The other counter was Johnny Dickshot's ninth inning homer.

Jimmy Dykes' forces broke a 3-3 tie in the sixth when Tony Cuccinello doubled and scored on Cass Michael's single. Chicago ..... 100 021 001—5 12 0 Boston ..... 100 020 000—3 9 1

Denis McGinn Will Give Dedication Address At Lighted Field Saturday

Dennis McGinn, founder of softball in Escanaba and one of its most enthusiastic supporters, will give the dedication address at the formal opening of the Escanaba Softball association's lighted field Saturday evening. It was announced yesterday by Paul Vardigan, association president.

The dedication program will feature an exhibition game between Dagenais Grocery, team in the American league, and an all-star lineup selected from the National league. The game will begin at nine o'clock, but will be preceded by a half hour program.

The diamond at the field is in tip-top shape, except for some lighting work still required in right field. The diamond has never been previously utilized for softball and the players had their first opportunity to try out the lights last night when electricians were on hand to adjust the focus of the Mazdas in order to provide maximum efficiency and to eliminate shadows. The lighted field is adjacent to and south of the state fairgrounds. There is ample parking space and temporary bleachers will be installed at the diamond.

There will be a parade of the players on Ludington street to the junior high school, beginning at 7:30 o'clock, and the program at the field will start at 8:30 o'clock. Loud speaking equipment will be installed and members of the board of control of the Softball association, Paul Vardigan, Claude Fisher, Fritz LaChapelle and Cliff Beaudin, Sr., will be introduced and will talk briefly before the dedication address of Mr. McGinn. Ray Johnson, manager of Dagenais, and Fred Boddy and Earl Haddy of the All-Stars, also will be introduced. Pfc. Cliff Beaudin, Jr., who has been very active in softball circles here prior to his entry into military service, and who lost a leg when he was wounded in action in Germany last December 31, will also be introduced. Beaudin is now home on leave from Percy Jones Hospital, Battle Creek.

Ken Gunderman, sports editor of the Daily Press, will act as master of ceremonies.

Indiana Speedster Stars In Europe

REIMS, July 19 (P)—Cpl. Charles Edwards of Hammond, Ind., ran 100 meters in 10.4 seconds today, coming within one fifth of a second of the world record, at the seventy fifth division track meet. The Indiana speedster also won the 200 meters in 22.6 seconds.

The double victory in fast times made him a favorite in both events in the European theater championships at Neurnberg next month.

SOFTBALL

The People's Hotel will play the Coast Guards at No. 1 Diamond tonight at 7 o'clock.

Joe Shipman's Sandra III. The third Seagull elimination race which was cancelled last Wednesday night will also be sailed Sunday afternoon. The point standing for the first two elimination races are Paul Menard's Suds and John Jacob's Ah-Mie tie for first place with 7½ points each.

Escanaba boats that will participate in the cruising race will be: Commodore Ed Erickson's Yankee, Francis Boyce's Bonny, John Mitchell's Olso, Bill Bissell's Lucille, C. W. Stoll's Rose of Sharon and

CUBS TRIUMPH OVER DODGERS

Five - Hit Performance Gives Wyse His 7th Straight Victory

Chicago, July 19 (P)—Hank Wyse notched his seventh straight mound victory today, with a five-hit performance that gave the first-place Cubs a 3-1 triumph over the Brooklyn Dodgers before a paid crowd of 10,128. It was Wyse's 13th win of the season.

Dixie Walker robbed Wyse of a shutout when he singled across pinch-hitter Morris Aderholt from second in the ninth frame for his 74th RBI of the season.

Until the ninth inning, Wyse allowed only two Dodgers to advance as far as second and had scattered three singles. In the final frame, Aderholt led off with a single, moved to second on an infield out and scored on Walker's one-bagger.

Singles by Bill Nicholson, Andy Parko, and Peanuts Lowrey scored the first Cub tally. The seventh inning pair came on singles by Dewey Williams, Wyse, and Roy Johnson, a sacrifice by Len Mervillo, and a walk to Stan Hack.

Score by innings: Brooklyn ..... 000 000 001—1 5 0 Chicago ..... 000 100 20x—3 9 0 Lombardi, King and Andrews, Sandlock; Wyse and Williams.

FRESH FROM RIVER

Jim Houle hurried in from the Escanaba River to enter his walleye pike in the Daily Press Contest, so quickly that the fish was still wiggling as it was being measured up. It weighed two pounds, 10½ ounces and measured 21½ inches in length, 9¾ inches in girth. Jim caught it in the lower Escanaba river on Monday evening. His bait was a goby of worms. ## Dark Horses Loom In St. Paul Open

BY MAURICE PUTNAM

St. Paul, Minn., July 19 (P)—The St. Paul open golf tournament developed into a "dark horse" affair today, with most of the pros refusing to concede that Harold "Jug" McSpaden of Sanford, Me., was the only one with a chance to win the title.

Until the withdrawal of Byron Nelson, the Toledo, Ohio, winner of virtually all the top money this year, there was little speculation about the victor. Nelson, who suffered a back injury in a recent contest, decided not to play after a visit at the Mayo clinic in Rochester yesterday. He has gone to Chicago to rest before playing in the Tam O'Shanter tourney starting next week.

The double victory in fast times made him a favorite in both events in the European theater championships at Neurnberg next month.

The boats will lay over here until Monday morning when the E.Y.C. Cruising Race is scheduled to start. The visiting yachts along with the Escanaba fleet will then leave on the first leg of the race which will be to Ephraim. On Tuesday the boats will sail in the Ephraim Regatta, after which the fleet will move to Fish Creek. Wednesday will start the second leg of the cruising race from Fish Creek to Sturgeon Bay. Thursday the third and final leg of the race will be sailed from Sturgeon Bay to Menominee. The fleet will lay over in Menominee Friday and will move to Fish Creek Saturday morning.

Escanaba boats that will participate in the cruising race will be: Commodore Ed Erickson's Yankee, Francis Boyce's Bonny, John Mitchell's Olso, Bill Bissell's Lucille, C. W. Stoll's Rose of Sharon and

Fishing Prospects Good In Peninsula

Lansing, July 19 (P)—Good fishing is in prospect in most areas of northern Michigan for the week end but fisherman may expect poor catches in all but a few sections of the southern part of the state, the state conservation department reported today.

Bass, pike and panfish are being taken in large numbers throughout the Upper Peninsula because of favorable weather. The department also reported that trout fishing is fair to good. Good catches have been reported by sport trollers in Lake Superior.

C&NW INSTALLS SAFETY LIGHTS

22 Trains Are Equipped With Oscillating Signals

Completing another milestone in railroad safety improvements, the Chicago and North Western Railway company has installed powerful red oscillating lights on the rear of 22 passenger, mail and express trains, becoming the first railroad in the country to take this step, according to L. L. White, vice-president in charge of operations.

The new "tail-lights," which throw an acentric beam of red light, are the result of months of research and testing on the North Western where the original Mars headlight as well as the oscillating red and white headlight were developed.

The rear light is considered one of the most notable railroad safety measures in recent years, and was developed to prevent rear end collisions. It is designed to be used only in emergencies. When a train is brought to a stop in an emergency, a trainman pushes a switch which starts the red light into operation just before he leaves the train to post signal lights or otherwise protect his train. The red light, which supplements the trainman's cautionary measures, is left on while the train is moving slowly and then cut off when normal speed is resumed.

The new lights are made of magnesium and weigh only 41 pounds. Original testing lights made of steel weighed 123 pounds. Later they were made of aluminum and weighed 65 pounds. At their present weight they can be handled easily by one man. "We consider the new light a forward step in the art of railroading," said White. "However, the light is only as an adjunct to the work of a flagman and is not intended to decrease his responsibility in maintaining train safety."

The trains on which the new light has been installed are the Overland Limited, Los Angeles Challenger, San Francisco Challenger and trains 9 and 6 between Chicago and Omaha; trains 15 and 16 between Chicago and Clinton, the North Western Limited and Victory between Chicago and Minneapolis, and the Ashland Limited and Iron and Copper Country Express between Chicago and Green Bay. Plans for extending operations of the new light to other trains are now under consideration, Mr. White said.

News From Men In The Service

Thomas X. Quinn, 31, husband of Jeanne S. Quinn, 329 South Thirteenth street, Escanaba, is receiving his initial Naval indoctrination at the U. S. Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill.

His recruit training consists of instruction in seamanship, military drill, and general Naval procedure. During this period a series of aptitude tests will be taken by the recruit to determine whether he will be assigned to a Naval Service School, to a shore station, or to immediate duty at sea.

When his recruit training is completed, the seaman will receive a period of leave.

Royce Playground Has Treasure Hunt

The first treasure hunt of the summer season was held at Royce playground on Wednesday. Prize winning treasure seekers were Harold Cloutier, Conrad Desilets, Chuck Olson, Joyce Sarasin and Jim Roberts. Throughout the remainder of the season, treasure hunts will be held at Royce Park at frequent intervals.

TIRE SITUATION IS STILL ACUTE

Rubber Strike Adversely Affected Supply For Passenger Cars

Because of the recent strikes in the rubber factories at Akron, O., the tire situation is now at least as acute as it has been at any time since the tire rationing program was instituted, the local war price and rationing board reported yesterday.

Nearly 600 approved applications for tires are on file at the local board, with less than 23 tire certificates remaining for the July quota. Chief Clerk James E. Anderson revealed. With more applications being received daily, it is probable that a carryover exceeding 600 approved applications will be on hand when the August quota is issued.

The situation is even more acute in the small truck tire category. The July quota has been completely exhausted and some trucks are unable to operate because of the lack of tires. The situation in the larger truck tire category, 8 1/4 and larger, is somewhat improved, however.

An original allocation of 50 tires was made at the beginning of July by the Delta county board and this was virtually exhausted early in the month, when a supplemental allocation of 25 tires was issued. No further allocations can be made this month, the local board has been advised by the district headquarters of the Office of Price Administration.

With the help of volunteers, virtually all of the applications for canning sugar have been processed and the coupons issued for the first allotment of five pounds per person. It is anticipated that the second and final allotment will be issued early in August. The exact amount of the second issuance has not been definitely determined, but it is expected to be seven pounds per person.

Last year a considerable number of Delta county persons helped with the cherry harvest in Door county.

Expect Blueberry Crop Light Here

Marquette — Sgt. Clarence B. Miller, Michigan state police, has arrived here from Battle Creek to assume his duties as assistant district commander of the state police. He will act as assistant to Capt. Carl W. Robertson, who was appointed district commander on July 1 to succeed Capt. O. E. Demaray, retired. The district includes all parts in the Upper Peninsula.

Sgt. Miller, who enlisted July 11, 1924, held previous assignments in Detroit, East Lansing, St. Clair, Alpena, Jonesville, Battle Creek, and also served in Negau, Iron Mountain, Munising, Marquette and Newberry from 1926 to 1928.

He has been awarded a citation for bravery, three citations for meritorious service and two citations for honorable mention. Forty-three years of age, he is married and has two sons.

Circus Agreement Must Be Observed, Says Police Chief

The agreement of Arthur Brothers circus with the city of Escanaba, signed by a circus representative when permission was granted by the city to have the circus show here July 24, must be observed and will be enforced, Police Chief Michael Ettenhofer said yesterday.

Signed by William B. Longstreet, contracting agent for the circus, the agreement specifies that the circus must advertise its general admission prices. These are stated in the agreement as follows:

General admission for the main show: $1.20, including tax for adults, 60 cents, including tax for children. Reserved seats: 90 cents, including tax. Side show: 35 cents, including tax.

Under terms of the agreement city officials to inspect the circus, and the circus must agree "that they will adhere and abide by all state and city laws governing exhibitions of this type."

Briefly Told

Mr. and Mrs. Penlip Nasson of Milwaukee and Harry Stolis of Duluth are visiting here at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Kristo.

Picnic Sunday

The families of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows and Rebekahs will hold a joint basket picnic Sunday beginning at 1:30 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dalip Rhenuist at Ford River Mills. Owing to rationing, each family is asked to bring their own sugar and butter. Coffee will be furnished and in the evening a Frankfort roast will be had. Games, swimming and boating will be indulged in and music will be had in the evening. Those desiring transportation are asked to call 1235-M and make that fact known.
